

Jai Hind,

I got the honor of participating in “Prime Minister’s Rally, RDC – 2020”. RDC is not just a competition where one should fight to win. It is definitely a platform for the cadets to develop themselves and shine in life. In order to get selected for RDC, I had gone through 10 selection camps. Each and every camp was special & unique and taught me something valuable which I could take all through my life. All the activities done in the RDC and its selection camps, are designed in such a way that a cadet could develop his/her personality, communication, boost confidence, inculcate various other qualities required to stand out of the crowd in life. The Armed Forces way of life lived in all these camps, taught us discipline, perfection, had built character etc.,. RDC provides exposure for the cadets at a very young age who belong to school and college. In RDC, we got the chance to meet top bureaucrats and high dignitaries of our country, which really motivated each and every one of us to do something to the welfare of our nation and to achieve altitudes. The lessons that I learnt from being a part of RDC is “If a person is confident, persistent, consistent in his/her efforts, then he/she will surely taste the fruit for those efforts”.
