Women's Day

Date:

International Women's Day is a global holiday celebrated annually on March 8 as a focal point in the women's rights movement, bringing attention to issues such as gender equality, reproductive rights and violence and abuse against women. Inspired by the Universal Female Suffrage Movement, International Women's Day originated from labour movements in North America and Europe during the early 20th century.

The earliest reported Women's Day observance called "National Woman's Day" was held on February 28, 1909, in New York City organized by the Socialist Party of America and inspired in part by the American Socialists. German delegates Clara Zetkin, Kate Duncker, Paula Thiede and others proposed the establishment of an annual "Women's Day".

although no date was specified. The 100 delegates representing 17 countries ^{Date:} agreed with the idea was a strategy to promote equal rights, including women's suffrage.

The following year on March 19, 1911, the first International Women Day was marked by over a million people in Austria, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland.

International Women Day (IWD) had initially no set date, though it was generally celebrated in late February, or early March. Americans continued to observe "National Women's Day" on the last Sunday in February. In 1914, International Women Day was held on March 8 for the first time in Germany, possibly because that date was a Sunday.

International Women Day is a day to celebrate activists on a global level, raising awareness of their work and the challenges they face.
