

Petitioners have said that freebies are pushing us towards imminent bankruptcy, under the guise of electoral promises, fiscal responsibility is being dispensed with. Such freebies are extended utilizing tax payers money only for increasing the popularity of the political party and electoral prospects. Promises are being made by political parties without any assessment of the financial implications on the state. We can see that, across the globe, freebies and bad electoral promises have damaged not only democracy but also the sovereignty & very existence of some nations.

“But the question is what exactly qualifies as a valid promise or a freebie?”

Hon. Supreme Court Protector of The Constitution

Sovereignty and Democracy are part of Basic Structure which can never be put at risk by ruining the economy.

The numbers in above graphic represents to the article number of The Constitution of India. The politician cartoon does not relate to any particular political person or party but it is some bad tendency since 1947. The learned advocate councils on both sides are doing their duties in bringing best judgement in the national interest, they are always respected. This is an artistic imaginative illustration for better understanding.

Some political parties have filed intervention applications in this batch of petitions and have challenged the very maintainability of these petitions. The main thrust of their submissions is that the issues raised in these petitions relate to policy or fiscal decisions of the State, which are clearly outside the scope of the Court's jurisdiction. They submitted that it is unimaginable that any Government or Court can prescribe or curtail the rights of political parties to make such promises or announcement of schemes as is sought for in the present case. The political parties which are responsible for running of the Governments are conscious and aware of the problems of the people. It was, therefore, contended by the interveners to leave the issue open to the political parties. All promises cannot be equated with freebies as they relate to welfare schemes, state's responsibility.
